

Glasswing International

Is an innovative non-profit organization that empowers youth and communities to address the root causes of poverty, violence, and migration through education, health, and community resilience programs.

We work with children, youth, and communities that face extreme adversity, including poverty, and exposure to crime and violence. Lacking a sense of safety and stability, some are forced to flee their homes and countries. To address these challenges, we harness the power of community to provide children and young people with opportunities that equip and enable them to thrive - becoming the best versions of themselves and change agents in their communities.

Our Approach

Glasswing's work is rooted in community engagement. We forge partnerships with international and local governments, corporations, non-profits, and civil society, building on, strengthening, and mobilizing existing resources to deliver high impact, sustainable solutions.

Our Work

- Build students' core life skills and resilience through weekly, year-round, extra-curricular programs, and psychosocial support in public schools
- Provide out-of-school, unemployed youth with economic opportunities through leadership, entrepreneurship, and employability training
- Empower girls by providing safe spaces and building their social, educational, and financial capabilities
- Train community leaders and public servants (i.g. teachers, medical personnel, police) in trauma-informed care, self-care, and restorative practices
- Support the reintegration of individuals and families that have been displaced or migrated by providing trauma support, education, and job training
- Certify healthcare professionals, law enforcement, and first responders in emergency life support
- Transform public spaces - such as schools and parks - through community-led volunteer projects

Our Impact

Since 2007, Glasswing International has:

- Impacted 1.5 million+ lives
- Grown from 3 to 600 employees
- Mobilized over $125M for programming
- Worked in over 550 public schools
